The car stalled.

For a moment, everything paused.

Then the answer came.

The morning continued, not as planned, but as observed.

Whether coincidence or pattern, the morning left a record.

Not an answer—just a sequence.